These are the words of Melvyn Davies from Golfshake Magazine:

'Located not far from Shrewsbury and a little further from Wolverhampton, Church Stretton Golf Club is quite simply unique. Its 18 holes sit atop the stunning Shropshire Hills – an area of outstanding natural beauty – and its panoramic views are among the finest in England. The course has been there for over 100 years and in that time major champions such as Sandy Lyle, Ian Woosnam and Henry Cotton have graced the fairways, while the legendary Harry Vardon and James Braid helped design some of its most outstanding holes. Woosie once labelled the course as “brilliant.”
